Commentary

Global markets remain volatile as geopolitical tensions, persistent inflation and rising government debt weigh on the outlook. The MSCI Global Index returned 20.4% over the year to July, compared with just 4.8% for Australian equities, while a stronger Australian dollar reduced offshore returns for domestic investors. Australian inflation remains elevated at around 3.8%, with 10-year government bond yields rising to 4.94%. Oil also surged 23.6% in July. Against this backdrop, diversification, quality assets, sustainable cash flows and income remain important in building portfolio resilience.
